Preview Main article: Test screening A preview performance refers to a showing of a film to a select audience, usually for the purposes of corporate promotions, before the public film premiere itself. Previews are sometimes used to judge audience reaction, which if unexpectedly negative, may result in recutting or even refilming certain sections based on the audience response. One example of a film that was changed after a negative response from the test screening is 1982s First Blood. After the test audience responded very negatively to the death of protagonist John Rambo, a Vietnam veteran, at the end of the film, the company wrote and re-shot a new ending in which the character survives.11

At the start of March, the James Bond film No Time to Die, which was scheduled to premiere in March 2020 and to wide release in April 2020, was postponed to November and then subsequently to April 2021.84 No Time to Die was the first film to change its planned release outside of China because of the early outbreak of COVID-19, and has opened discussions of dramatic implications on the film economy: many other productions had avoided scheduling releases at the same time as the 25th Bond film, and its new November date is in the busy holiday release period, leading to low box office intake in MarchApril and uncertain intake in November.21 However, the postponement could reportedly generate more publicity for the film, and is also taking the familiar November release slot of the past two Bond films.85 It has also been suggested that other high-profile films will follow and postpone releases, creating a similar effect.2184 Several other films soon followed in postponing their releases worldwide: the heavily promoted Polish slasher film W lesie dziś nie zaśnie nikt Nobody Sleeps in the Woods Tonight was postponed from March 13 to some point in the future when the situation had settled,86 and the political documentary Slay the Dragon had its theatrical release moved from March 13 to April 3.31

On April 28, in response to Shells comments, U.S. chain AMC Theatres announced that it would cease the screening of Universal Pictures films effective immediately, and threatened similar actions against any other exhibitor who unilaterally abandons current windowing practices absent good faith negotiations between us.150 On July 28, the two companies announced an agreement allowing Universal the option to release a film to premium video on demand after a minimum of 17 days in its theaters, with AMC receiving a cut of revenue.151152 Universal later reached similar pacts with Cinemark Theatres and Cineplex Entertainment.153
